912 F STREET NORTHWEST.

TOWN TALK.

A notable sale of real estate during the week was the purchase by Mr. Jesse F. Carpenter, a wealthy resident of Cazenovia, N. Y., of the northwest corner of the Louise Home grounds. The lot is bounded by sixteenth street, Scott Circle, and Massachusetts avenue, and contains 13,361 square feet. Mr. Carpenter paid $50,527 for the property, or seven dollars a foot. This is said to be the largest lump sum ever paid for a residence site in this city. Mr. Carpenter will erect a handsome house on the lot.

Judge Cox during the week granted a divorce to Dora A. Gawler from Joseph C. Gawler. Complaint was given the right to resume her former name of Landvoigt. The divorce was granted on the ground of brutal treatment and infidelity.

Fannie M. Potter has been granted a divorce from John W. Potter, with permission to resume her maiden name of Williams.

The Hebrew New Year was fittingly observed in Washington on Sunday and Monday last.

While attempting to steal a ride on a B. & P. freight train near Maryland avenue and Eleventh street southwest, Lawrence Phillips, ten years old, fell and had his left arm caught beneath the wheel. The injured arm had to be amputated near the elbow.

A bill has been introduced in the House appropriating $50,000 for the erection in Washington of a statue to John Ericsson, the great Swedish inventor.

The Parking Commission is trying to find a remedy for the caterpillars, which are doing so much damage to the shade trees in Washington just now.

Capt. Russell, of the engineer's office, is investigating the cable-car system with a view to providing means for better assuring the safety of the public.

According to Coroner Patterson's report 579 deaths were investigated in the past year by the coroner's office, 423 of which were colored persons. These included nineteen suicides, fifteen homicides, eight infanticides, 394 deaths by accident, 361 from disease, and seventy-two still births. The coroner asks for $3,300 for the expenses of his office for the year ending June 30, 1891.

At the third meeting of the Takoma Park Gun Club, Wednesday, September 17, out of twenty possible birds Mr. Blair Lee shot eighteen, Dr. Carroll fourteen, Dr. Schaffert twelve, Mr. Mason eleven, and Capt. Lay ten.

The deservedly popular firm of Havenner & Davis, shoe dealers, at 923 F street, have scored another big hit for the public's favor by the handsome manner in which they have fitted out their store. The building inside and out has been beautifully painted and decorated, tasty paper beautifies the walls and handsome carpets the floors. The attractiveness of the show window has been greatly enhanced by its lining of plate-glass mirrors, and handsome mirrors on the inside lend an additional air of elegance to the establishment. There is no finer store in the city, and the proprietors deserve great credit for their enterprise. Messrs. Havenner & Davis have just received a fine new stock of shoes, and every size and shape of foot can find a suitable shoe at a price to suit the purse of the buyer. A number of polite and obliging clerks are always in attendance, and the members of the firm give their personal attention to the convenience of their patrons.

The New York Clothing Company, of No. 311 Seventh street northwest, offers one of the most complete assortments of men's, boys', and children's clothing ever exhibited in this city. Every garment sold is made under their supervision in their large manufacturing plant, located at 212-216 West Washington street, Syracuse, N. Y., and 52-56 Pearl street, Buffalo, N. Y. The store here has been located permanently. The firm has adopted the one-price system, all goods being marked in plain figures. Every garment is sold subject to the guarantee that if it is not as represented, or if unsatisfactory, the money will be refunded. The store on Seventh street is centrally located. A competent corps of clerks is in attendance on customers.

Mal. Moore, of the Police Department, is going to ask for twenty-seven more men for his force. He says he can't get along without them, and that he ought really to have fifty. He also thinks that a new station-house building should be erected in Georgetown.

Professor Lucien E. C. Collière has leased for a number of years the elegant house on Connecticut avenue near K street northwest, No. 1011, known as the Scott mansion, where he will hold his six weeks' course of French conversation.

RAID ON A GAMBLING-HOUSE.

Seventeen Men and Two Women Gathered in by the Police.

Lieut. Amis, Sergeant Montgomery, Detective Raff, and a posse of officers of the First Precinct last night made a successful raid on the gambling establishment of Henry Young, 311 Thirteenth-and-a-half street. The place is frequented by a lot of men and half-grown boys, who style themselves "Assembly No. 2," and when not engaged in playing pool are up stairs shooting crap or shuffling cards. Young was arrested and locked up to await a hearing, as were also two women and sixteen men, who were found in the place, they being held as witnesses. While Officer Sutton was watching the front of the establishment after the raid took place and the men were under arrest a young man named George Calvin attempted to enter the place. He was ordered off, but persisted in his attempts, and at last was placed under arrest. On the way to the station he resisted the officer and a number of his friends attempted to rescue him, compelling the officer to use his baton on the head of the prisoner. This subdued him, but all the way to the station stones and other missiles were thrown at the officer, but no other arrests were made.

A Tidal Wave of Enterprise.

The ladies of Washington will be delighted to find on another page of to-day's HERALD a list of articles designed for their use and marked at very low prices by the proprietors of "The Monumental," a new enterprise just opened for their especial benefit, at 937 and 939 F street, by D. J. Goldenberg, of Baltimore. Mr. Cohen, the manager of Mr. Goldenberg's branch house in this city, is a gentleman of wide experience in the particular line of goods this firm handles, and is most assiduous in his attention to the demands of the public. A fine line of goods has received the unequalled patronage of the fair sex during the past week, and the offers they make to-day for next week will no doubt cause a greater rush than ever to their counters. Mr. Goldenberg is proud of his reputation in Baltimore, and feels no hesitancy in giving the name of his native city to his establishment in this city. With its inexhaustible line of hats and bonnets, trimmed and untrimmed, ribbons, cloaks, muslin underwear, gloves, hosiery, etc., displayed in the magnificent setting of a handsome building, beautifully fitted up, "The Monumental" bids fair to soon force its way into Washington favor.

The Intelligence of Toads.

From Forest and Stream.
Toads, in the presence of snakes, usually remain perfectly still. In this is their only safety, for did they make the least movement they would immediately be caught. I have known a hungry snake to lie waiting for over an hour for a frog to move, and even push with the nose to stir him up. This has been called "snake charming," and indeed it looks like it, but the toad is the charmer and the snake the charmed.
